

The committees and sectoral committees are where Alastria's activity happens, with members engaging and working to further advance blockchain technology. The committees address the cross-cutting, multi-sectoral impact of blockchain deployment, while the sectoral committees focus on solving challenges and adding value to this technology in a variety of industries with the support of all relevant stakeholders.

At Alastria we work with a decentralised approach and rely on the strength of local ECOsystems (ECOs) to foster talent and develop use cases in each territory.
